

Acknowledgments

The Rondout Creek Program Team is pleased to release the Rondout Creek Management Plan, a guide for local residents, municipalities, interested organizations and agencies to protect and improve the Rondout Creek watershed. We look forward to the improvements in the Rondout Creek's health that result from consideration of the management options outlined here.

The Rondout Creek Program Team gives special thanks to the streamside residents who assisted the planning effort by providing valuable information in our public survey, shared history, maps and photographs of the stream, and gave permission for our field crews to access the stream for data collection. We met many landowners along the way shared their experiences of living streamside over the years. Through our stream feature inventory, we developed a better understanding of stream conditions and trends, and look forward to implementing management recommendations that will lead to a healthier Rondout Creek.

Thanks to the primary authors of this plan: Mark Vian, Chris Tran, Jenn Grieser (NYC DEP), Dan Davis, Laurie Machung, Jim Mayfield, Carol Smythe (Neversink Historian), and Dave Gilmour (Gilmour Planning). Additional thanks to individuals who supported data collection and management efforts: Hanh Chu, SUNY Ulster interns Jasmine Ingersoll, Mark Dupre and Jesse Dallas, Martin Rosenfeld, and Eliot Jordon. Thank you to the entire staff of Sullivan County Soil & Water Conservation District including Brent Gotsch, a master's candidate from SUNY Binghamton who prepared the document for final publication. Significant portions of the Rondout Creek plan were adapted from plans created for the Schoharie and Ashokan basins.

The planning process would not be possible without the helpful, active involvement and public support of Stream Management Planning by the Town Supervisors of Denning and Neversink, Bill Bruning and Greg Goldstein, respectively. Highway Superintendents Dan Van Saders (Denning) and Preston Kelly (Neversink) contributed invaluable information from the field in their area of expertise. And thank you to the Rondout Creek Roundtable, Watershed Advisory Group participants, and the many additional volunteers listed below, for support and guidance in development of this plan. Your input helped produce what we believe will be a successful plan for managing the Rondout Creek.
